

SAUNTERINGS

From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

YESTERDAY Flag Day was celebrated throughout the United States. The stars and stripes were adopted by congress as the flag of your country in 1777. This early American flag was somewhat like the flag of today in appearance, only 13 stars arranged in a circle in the upper left hand square.

Do you know how many red and white stripes there are in our present flag? How many stars? Study the history of the United States flag. It will make of you a more loyal American.

ON SATURDAY the NRA will celebrate its first birthday. If the Blue Eagle did nothing else but eliminate child labor, and give us the word chisler to classify persons who think only of selfish gains... we should still have much to be thankful.

POPE PIOUS celebrated his 77th birthday recently. Messages of felicitations and good wishes were sent to the Vatican City by Archbishop Drossaerts in behalf of the San Antonio Archdiocese. A reply from the papal secretary of State conveyed the Pope's thanks and blessings.

LEST we forget: General Pershing and his staff reached Paris June 13, 1917.

FOLKS whose tastes for food inclined toward the unusual can be satisfied at Reptile Garden in Breckenridge Park here. First they started serving barbecued rattlesnake and wiches, and now its fried couch-whit and bullsnake eggs. Fried turtle eggs were also on the menu Sunday afternoon. The reason there were no fried rattlesnake eggs was due to the fact rattlesnakes do not lay eggs, we were informed.

PETERS beware! Your affectionate demonstration may cost you from $50 to $100 fine... petting wild fawn, we mean, of course. This is the season of the year that deer have their young. The baby deer are often found roaming near the highways. If one were to touch a fawn, the mother deer would abandon it, leaving it to die of starvation, the game warden informed.

TWO motorists were injured and car wrecked near Mason when a large deer suddenly dashed out of the darkness directly in the path of the speeding automobile. The deer was killed.

A RATTLESNAKE weighing 20 pounds and having 23 rattlers was killed last week by a rancher in the hill country north of San Antonio. The rattler was six feet in length.

BY the time this reaches print Primo Carnera and Max Baer, two giant prizefighters, will have swung powerful and dangerous blows at each other in a small squared ring to determine the world's heavyweight fighting championship, with this title being given to Max Baer. Thousands of blood thirsty fans will pay money to see this gruesome contest. Countless others will work themselves into a frenzy as they listen in on the blow-by-blow radio broadcast. And we kid ourselves into believing we are a civilized people.

WHAT is probably a world's record was established by "Red," a registered female setter, who gave birth to a litter of 18 cunning pups. The dog is owned by an army officer at Camp Bullis, near San Antonio.

THE family were discussing the quintuplets born to Mrs. Elzire Dionne, of Ontario, Canada. Finally the little daughter, who had been studying the picture of the five, tiny infants spoke in a serious tone: "Mother, there are two sets of twins, and one left over." After a bit she mused: "That will be an expensive family. It will take five ice cream cones every time that mother takes her babies for an outing. I suppose she loves them all the same, don't you, mother?"

AN Associated Press dispatch from Hiawatha, Kansas, states that a man inserted the following want ad in a daily paper there: "Wanted—Good soaking rain." A one half inch rain fell a few hours later, we are told.

Mr. Local Merchant, advertising space in your home town newspaper may not work miracles like the above but your business message in print will prove to potential customers the fact you are modern—alert—and progressive. An advertisement in The Sea Coast Echo will bring a rain of dollars to your cash register.

MEETS APPROVAL OF HIS FRIENDS

Wood Should Stay in His Present Place as Secretary Of State

WALKER WOOD, Secretary of State

A man holding a public office is an employee of the people. If he is efficient, courteous and renders prompt service he should be retained in his official position.

Many of the papers of the State are commending the service and efficiency with which Walker Wood conducts the department of the Secretary of State's office.

We concur in the nice things that are being said about Mr. Wood as a state official. He is a good business man, thoroughly familiar with the volume of important work of his department. He has a good organization and every matter that reaches his department is given immediate attention. He is the right man in the right place, and we join the voice of other editors that he should not have opposition. If he should he will be re-elected for he knows that he is an employee of the people, and has not allowed honor and position to make him rise above those who made it possible for him to serve in a public capacity.

Running for a state office is a big undertaking and very expensive. Considering the cost of a state campaign and deduct the expense from the small salary of $3150 a year that most of the heads of departments receive, the net amount that a state officer, who has opposition, gets out of the office is negligible. In fact when a man runs for a state office against an efficient officer—it looks like "fools rush in where angels dare not tread."

The person who runs against Walker Wood will at least have the satisfaction of spending several thousand dollars without reward.

COUPLE MARRIED 57 YEARS DIE FOUR DAYS APART AT N. O.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schilling Residents In Dunbar Avenue, Succumb

Living together in happy married life for a span of 57 years, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schilling, originally of New Orleans, but residents of Waveland for a while and for the past several years residing in their own home in Dunbar avenue, Bay St. Louis, died the latter part of last week, Mr. Schilling died Sunday night, his wife four days previously.

Mr. Schilling, who was 78 years old, had been ill for six months, and his wife for three weeks. He passed away without knowing that his wife had gone before him. Both died at the residence of one of their children, 3302 Annunciation street, in a neighborhood here they had lived for forty years.

Some years ago they bought property in Waveland where they resided for several years. Selling the place, they later moved into Bay St. Louis and purchased in Dunbar avenue, known as the Scott place, near the intersection of Leonhard avenue, renovating the place.

The two funerals, held four days apart, was with ceremony at the Jackson Avenue Evangelical Church, New Orleans, where they were married 57 years ago, and there they reaffirmed their vows on the 50th anniversary of their marriage. They were buried in Lafayette cemetery No. 2.

Mr. Schilling was a retired butcher and grocer, for many years operating stands in the Dryades and Magazine Markets. He was active in the organization and leadership of the Sixth District Carnival Association. A member of the old Jefferson No. 22 volunteer fire company, he also was affiliated with Germania Lodge No. 46, F. & A. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Schilling are survived by six children, Mrs. August Muller, Mrs. Florence H. Fischer, Henry A. George J., Louis J., and William A. Schilling. Thirteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Schilling was the former Miss Catherine Alexander.

PLANOS IN RAILROAD ACCIDENT

'Papa George' Chef of Tropical Inn, Hit by Train Early Tuesday.

George Planos, perhaps better known as 'Papa George' formerly of Pass Christian, but now chef at the Tropical Inn, at Henderson Point, on Bay St. Louis, received injuries of undetermined character on Tuesday morning when his green-colored automobile was said to have been struck by a Louisville & Nashville train at the Henderson Point crossing on Highway 90.

Planos was up and about early and was, it is said, about to cross the railroad track when the onrushing train caught the auto and turned it over into the bottom of the embankment, where it still remains a partial wreck. Planos was taken to King's Daughters Hospital at Gulfport where he is reported doing well and will probably recover, however, nothing definite concerning his injuries or condition is given out.

Number 3, westbound Louisville and Nashville train, struck the car of Planos, who apparently failing to observe the on-coming train drove his car upon the crossing and then is said to have apparently tried to turn down the track in the direction the train was traveling. The rear of the planos car was struck by the moving train and thrown for some distance, catapulting Planos into the air.

Kozy Theater At The Pass Under New Executive Management

Messrs. Roulston Huggins and Oliver Thaxton, of Waynesboro, have arrived in Pass Christian and have leased the Kozy Theater from S. L. Taylor, and these two experienced showmen promise the theatergoers of Pass Christian the very best and latest film products available in the Coast.

The Kozy has one of the best makes of sound on films, which guarantees in future, clear, distinct voices in the films, with breakdowns, practically eliminated, and under present system getting "out of time" is an impossibility. This splendid new system, together with a show every night of latest and best products, will put the local playhouse in position to offer as good attractions in this line as can be found on the Coast.

Both Messrs. Huggins and Thaxton have had much experience in the picture business and we predict for the playhouse, under their management a splendid patronage.

REV. M. J. COSTELLO ADDRESSES CLASS GRADUATE NURSES

At Lake Shore Friday Night; Speaks On "The Aims of Life" To Many

Rev. M. J. Costello of Waveland delivered the address to 22 graduates Red Cross nurses at Lakeshore, Friday night, in the open, before a large crowd. After an appropriate introduction Father Costello spoke on "The Aims of Life" in part as follows. Man's first and most intimate relations is with himself. His primary responsibility is for his own life, not for its beginning, but in a very personal sense for its continuance, for its developments, and for its results.

The world is exact in its debits and credits, and sooner or later balances accurately every man's account. The only way to meet your responsibilities and discharge your obligations is by living a life of helpfulness; that is, by the enlargement of your virtues through service, and storing your memory with the record of kindness to others. The only competition worthy of a man is with himself.

It is the glory of humanity that every person has as a part of his original endowment an essential principle which will not be satisfied with less than the best he may attain. Human nature and divine grace are adjusted to the development of this principle. Its universality and persistence account for the trend and attainments of humanity. It thrives by ministry and rejoices in service.

Julius Caesar once said there was no music so charming to his ears as the requests of his friends and the supplications of those in need of assistance. Cato, at the close of his long and eventful life, declared that the greatest comfort of his old age was the pleasing remembrance of the many benefits and friendly offices which he had done to others. The greatest joy of living, a joy which brings no sorrow is to relieve human need by personal ministry. It is an investment the angels might well covet. No investment makes larger personal returns.

Turning to the nurses Father Costello then referred to the rigorous course of training they went through their responsibilities and advantages and how well they were equipped to assist others in their suffering.

A special musical program was arranged by Mrs. Weber. The following are the graduates:

Vivian Green, Mrs. Jesse Bennett, Myrtis Ladner, Lelia Ladner, Mrs. Ethel Loiacano, Lillian Green, Mrs. Sidney Lafontaine, Toledo Lafontaine, Leolia Green, Mrs. Albert Bosage, Mrs. Laura Johnston, Mrs. Alvin Bosage, Mrs. Leila Wadsworth, Pearl Chouest, Beulah Chouest, Bertie Dubuisson, Lenore Dubuisson, Mrs. A. CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS WINS IN SUIT FOR PAYMENT PAVING CONTRACT

Federal Court Decrees City Cannot Pay Sum of $7005.00, Plus Interest, For Reason Requirements of Statutes Were Not Properly Met by Commission Form Of Government

PAVING WORK AT WAVELAND STARTED BY CONTRACTING CO.

Higgison Construction Co., Has Force of Men On Outstanding Improvement

C. O. Decker, chief office man for the Higgison Construction Company, reached here from Atmore, Ala., a few days ago and already has a force of men at work on Coleman avenue preparing to carry out the contract with the City of Waveland for the hard-surfacing of certain streets.

A wire from Washington this week tells federal authorities allowed the CWA appropriation for this work to be increased to $50,000, and it is expected this amount will fully carry out cost of this outstanding improvement.

All surfacing, Mr. Decker said, will be of concrete base and surface and of a character that will be long lasting and that will give general satisfaction.

Paraphernalia and all minor equipment necessary were transferred to Waveland from Atmore, Ala., where the Higgison Construction Company completed an extensive job of street hard-surfacing.

Mr. Decker said the work would be rushed to completion within due time. Mayor Mapp and other Waveland officials express much satisfaction over the prospects of early completion of the work and of its fine character as well.

New Book at Bay St. Louis Library Of General Interest

It would seem that Pegasus, the winged horse, has alighted in Bay St. Louis and that the swift steed, symbol of poets, has taken up his abode at the Public Library. Here we find "The Winged Horse," by Joseph Anslender and Frank Ernest Hilla history of poetry from behind Homer to Edna St. Vincent Millay, and here, too, are anthologies "The Little Book of American Poets" in which Jessie B. Rittenhouse has striven "to garner those poems which time has winnowed from the moss."

Speaking of new books, you, who are familiar with the flounder broiled, did you really know that he, like the chameleon, changed color with his surroundings? Put him on your checked linoleum, and he will even go black and white. Here is just interesting fact from "Strange Fishes and their strange neighbors" by Paul W. Kearney.

Boys, here's a cracker-jack, "The Fire Fighters," by John J. Flaherty and another, "Young America Source of Franklin D. Roosevelt." Incidentally, you might scrap your "Tarzan" and "Bomba" books and read something good about a jungle boy (in fact the original J. B.) in Kipling's "Jungle Books." Children will enjoy Kipling's "Just So" stories and also two new books "Missing Katchins" and "A Surprise for Children."

All of these books have been selected, purchased and given to the library by Mrs. Caroline Dale Snedeker, who continues her story hour Thursday as usual. Miss Louise Crawford, librarian, has given five new picture books about animals for little tots.

Miss Crawford says that the library can use lots more magazines for her branch-work in the county. Handing on of regular subscriptions as each number is read would be greatly appreciated.

Episcopal Camp In Bay St. Louis Has Large Enrollment, 132

Rev. Gerault Jones, of Pass Christian, one of the active executives of the young peoples camp of the Episcopal church of Mississippi, with headquarters at Camp Onward, Bay St. Louis, reports a most successful time—recreational and educational, with an attendance of 132 from all parts of the State. It is planned to bring the camp to a close with a trip to Ship Island.

The camp is in charge of Rev. Gordon Reese, rector of Trinity Church of Vicksburg, and it is attended by other officials including Bishop William Mercer Green. It is officially known as the Camp Bratton-Green.

—Mr. and Mrs. George J. Toca and daughter, Miss Eunice, came out from New Orleans for the week-end and plan to return shortly to their own home in Carroll avenue for the summer season.

The City of Bay St. Louis represented in federal court, at Biloxi, won first round in a suit wherein the Independent Paving Company, assignees of the Dixie Asphalt Company sought to procure payment of balance for $7,005.00, plus interest, a balance from one of the original amounts of $13,500.80. The suit is a result of the paving of Carroll avenue, on an approximate bid basis, contracted by the former city administration, and the present administration is asked to pay the balance.

City Attorney L. M. Gex, representing the commission form of council defended the case on grounds that the procedure leading up to the entering of the contract and actual making of the contract, was void of the reason.

First, that the contract had been entered into by ordinance, and that the ordinance was void because it was executed through resolutions.

Second, contract was filed with the clerk, and remained on file for a period of time.

Third, the contract was published as required by the City Charter.

The City under contract and upon its judgment.

Judge Holme held that the provisions relating to the making of this contract were mandatory; that the sum though the city had received the benefit of the contract the contractor could not leave for the reason that the legislature did not close the front door of the treasury by statute and leave the back door open. And held further that the city was not estopped from asserting its defense because its agents had acted for it.

Attorney Lucien M. Gex has won quite a signal victory both for the city of Bay St. Louis and taxpayers as well, for the reason, it is claimed by the defense, and sustained by Judge Cox, that the method of procedure was not in conformity with the statutes as affecting the commission form of government. The procedure leading to advertising and letting the contract was done by resolution and not by ordinance and publication in the local newspaper. This might have been proper mode of procedure under the aldermanic form but does not hold in the commission form of council.

The work was done by the Dixie Asphalt Company. In turn it finally assigned this contract to the Independent Company.

The paving firm was represented by the firm of Messrs. Ford, White & Morse of Gulfport, while the city by Attorney Lucien M. Gex. Much of the data and research work from the files of the city was carried out by City Commissioner H. Grady Perkins, who gave the matter more than ordinary interest and attention.

Should the defendants seek to appeal it will be to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, at New Orleans.

Should the city ultimately lose its case, and it is the general consensus of local opinion that it will not, the present administration would have to levy an extra millage of 3 1/2 mills (approximately) in order to raise the funds.

The ultimate outcome will be watched with more than ordinary interest.

ADVERTISING A REAL HELP TO SUCCESSFUL MERCHANTS

THE idea that prevailed about advertising some years ago are dying fast and the future will see a pronounced trend to institutional advertising. Rather than try to persuade the buyer that he is giving away something the new merchant will only try to convince her that he is honestly and competently serving her convenience in the field of merchandising.

Buyers have sense. They know that it is impossible for a business man to keep going except through making a legitimate profit on his trade. When he gives efficient service, buying wisely and selling at reasonable prices, the local merchant is doing his part in promoting the welfare of this city.

Naturally, one should not lose sight of the fact that hundreds of young people become of age every year, and find it necessary to establish their own business connections. Few of them know business men personally. They will naturally trade with the firm that has sold itself to them, which suggests good will advertising in the newspaper that most of them read and that bring up The Sea Coast Echo.

Advertising will do for merchants in this city exactly what it has done for successful business elsewhere. It will not sell inferior goods or up for rotten service. It will serve as an aid to buyers, keep them thinking of a merchant and impress them with the firm's efficiency. However, it must be carefully done. The Echo invites all merchants to use its helpful advertising service, placed at their disposal.

It does not intend to try to fool them into spending money. In the long run such a policy. Our business must grow only through their progress. Hence, there is no overloading a business with results for our advertising business because we are so profitable to advertisers when used correctly.

HELPING NEGRO EDUCATION

CONSTRUCTION is now underway on Dillard University, a $2,000,000 institution for Negroes, in New Orleans. It is to be one of four great centers of education for colored people and represents the merging of three institutions.

Dillard University is named in memory of Dr. James H. Dillard, a white man, who resigned the deanship of Tulane University to devote the last twenty years of his life to the cause of Negro education. It is sponsored by the American Missionary Association of the Congregational Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church's Board of Education, the General Education Board and the Rosenwald Fund.

The proper education of Negroes in the United States is somewhat of a problem in the South, where even the white population does not enjoy equal educational facilities with those of other sections. To give to all Negro children a satisfactory education requires the assistance of other people, especially those in other states, where few Negroes live, and who profess admiration and love for the children of former slaves.

In fact, the United States government, now spending vast sums of money for many good causes, could with profit, set aside a considerable amount for the extension of educational facilities for Negroes in the South. The Rosenwald fund has done much good along this line but the need is great and the field uncrowded.

WELL, LEAD US TO IT

IT'S about time for people to get a sound conception of the N. R. A. and other recovery measures.

So far as we know no claim is made that perfection has been attained; rather freely have those in authority admitted error. Nevertheless, immense gains have been made within the past fifteen months in economic affairs and some assert that much of the progress is attributable to the code system.

There is nothing sacrosanct in a code. It represents the cooperative effort of industry to seek improvement. Until better systems are presented the codes should discriminate in favor of concerns flying the famous eagle.

Someone recently pointed out that the situation is much like that which confronted two soldiers in a shell hole in France. One said to the other, "I know this isn't much of a hole, but if you know where a better one is, lead us to it."

The politicians are keeping eagle eyes on the Literary Digest's latest poll, which is to determine whether the public still has faith in the Roosevelt policies in general. In preceding polls, the Digest has been so astonishingly accurate that some wits have suggested calling off elections as an economy measure, and abiding by Digest returns. So far the present poll shows strong Roosevelt support—he is even carrying Pennsylvania, haven of Republicans, and the only large state carried by Hoover in 1932. However, his majority, which was 2 to 1 in early returns, is dropping, and is now closer to 3 to 2.

Now that the graduates have about finished telling us how to run the universe the way is open to candidates.

THE PATH OF GLORY

GRIM tragedy, fitting in all the settings stage-craft could make possible, stark, intractable, characterizes the passing away of Dorothy Dell Goff, native of this section of Mississippi, who met death the later part of last week in California.

No vivid imagination of the fictionist could play up or frame a story of youth, beauty and nation-wide success over night, so to speak, and then—in the fraction of a moment death! A tragic ending in all extreme of dramatic elements.

Dorothy Dell Goff, who, in her meteoric success, glorified and unanimously acclaimed by an admiring public, had on that evening attended a pre-view of her latest picture. It received the favor of professional critics. Of this there was no doubt. Their opinion carried and was absolute. Then a friend of the family, a physician, of wealth and appearance, socially prominent, had gone with the screen actress to Alameda to a place of resort. It was then, while returning from another triumph of her career the sedan in which she was traveling homeward disaster overtook the couple. Leaving the road the car crashed into immovable structure on the roadside and telescoped one half its own length. The crash instantly killed Miss Goff while the doctor died a few hours later.

Dorothy Dell Goff arrived "home" at Gulfport Thursday morning. Her funeral will take place this Friday afternoon and the cortege will wend way to Handsboro, where in the tomb of maternal grandfather, a descendant of Jefferson Davis, she will lie in peace while the blossoms of the flower-covered country cemetery will shed their fragrance and the birds of the air will sing from nearby trees in sanctuary.

A last page is turned. The book is closed. Memory will ever linger to those who knew Dorothy Dell Goff either in private life or professionally. It is a sad memory. Bitter in the extreme. But there is the ecstasy of that thought in its exquisite beauty that a life had been born like some rare flower. It had blossomed to that point where the bud, concealing and yet revealing, on the eve of its beautiful bloom, sufficiently to prove the gifted possibilities the departed one possessed in life.

Like in a country church yard, Miss Goff will rest in the graveyard of a primitive forest, and more than one will think of the immortal lines of Gray's Elegy.

The path of glory, after all, whether one passes on in youth or in older age, leads but to the grave.

FOR DOMESTIC GAS

AN ARTICLE headed Gas and Bay-Waveland appearing in these columns last week, attracted considerable attention and has brought to The Echo several letters of commendation and further inquiry. These letters, in fact, are numerous, the bulk coming from property owners and summer residents from New Orleans. They well realize both the necessity of gas for domestic purpose and gas as an enhancement for improved realty values.

Bay St. Louis, Waveland and intermediate and adjoining points are without gas. While towns far smaller and of more or less importance enjoy the advantage which we would seek for this section.

With both Louisiana and Mississippi possessing innumerable gas wells producing in unmeasured quantities, reminds one of the man "drift at sea. Surrounded by nothing but water and yet none to drink. The situation is almost identical.

Gas is piped to a point two miles across the waters of Bay St. Louis. To the west the town of Slidell, slightly over the State line, is piped and supplying patrons. Gas on every side and none in the Bay-Waveland district.

The article in last week's Echo intimated there must have been something "rotten in Denmark." While we could not substantiate the charge, the thought prevails.

However, the matter now is taking such tangible shape that The Echo understands a committee plans to appear before the city board and make appeal for action in the premises. This newspaper is one hundred per cent with such move and willing to back it up to the very limit, both with dollars and printer's ink.

Let us hear more about gas for Bay-Waveland. Let us hear more from our readers. Let us agitate for things constructive.

WHERE'S THE RAIN-MAKERS?

WHAT'S the matter with the old-time rain-makers? Here we have the Middle West parching for months, offering the biggest of opportunities for the professors, and not one of them shows up to demonstrate his power and relieve suffering crops and animals.

Older residents of Bay St. Louis remember the gentry. They came into sun-baked areas, with fine-sun theories of the upper air and moisture, and often with guns, balloons, and other paraphernalia to be used in their mystic rites.

Sometimes luck stayed with them and shortly after their incantations rain fell. Often the citizenry believed in their magic and crossed their palms with silver contributions. Today, however, the profession has faded, because people are more intelligent or the present drought surpasses their power.

BAY ST. LOUIS BRIDGE

MUCH concern is expressed about the apparent dilapidated condition of the decking of the Bay St. Louis bi-county bridge. Every cross board of the decking seems loose and autos passing cause a rumbling that is heard during the day on land and by many after retiring for the night. Sounds of rumbling boards re-echo over the water to the premises of many inhabitants. Some say it disturbs their sleep.

The Highway Department is generally criticized, whether justly or not, we do not know. But one thing is certain, and one needs not be a student of building engineering to know the entire decking of the bridge is giving away from its original fastenings. More anon.

You have no idea how fast you grow in your friend's opinion if you give him a little cash business.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

BEAT THY NEIGHBOR.

"WHEN the devil was sick, the devil a monk would be; When the devil was well, the devil a monk was he."

Government business seems to be in full retreat, in spite of the recent passage of the bill regulating stock markets. (We have yet to see how the new law works in practice.) The NRA is being attacked from all angles, so that the blue eagle is losing its ferocity. A year and more ago business was very sick indeed. Even candidate Roosevelt had asserted that the break-up of the United States government was threatened. Business (as has only recently transpired) came to government begging to be saved, and the NRA was devised to save business, a purpose which, we are assured, has now been accomplished. Certain concessions were made to favor other classes, and grudgingly accepted as a return for the privilege of ignoring the anti-trust laws and fixing prices as a guarantee of profits.

Now that we are all prosperous again, the tide seems to have turned. We are assured that competition is the life of trade, that America is a land dedicated to freedom, especially economic freedom, which has made it great and rich. Even the workmen are warned by pictures of Italian, Russian and other foreign laborers in chains to avoid the tyranny of Fascism and Communism, and to preserve his own priceless liberty. Their right to bargain on equal terms with their employers, especially if they employers are very big corporations, is not to be infringed by any bureaucracy. Cooperation and government control, except in the matter of fixing of prices in certain lines of business, is abandoned.

According to this propaganda, the only way to promote progress is to do your damdest to beat your neighbor at the money-making game, in accordance with our highest and noblest traditions. The little fellow with a few thousands of dollars must be perfectly free to compete against the corporations which have several hundreds of millions in resources, and it must be a fair fight with no referee to enforce any arbitrary rules. Both must be allowed to buy labor and raw materials as cheaply as possible, to use the most improved methods and labor-saving devices, and to sell their products as cheaply as they can to any buyers they may be able to find. This free scramble, which Professor Ely reminded us is also the rule among hogs, is supposed by some of our elder statesmen and by many of our editors, to be in the interest of the small business man and of the public.

With this sort of cheerful optimism being dinned into everybody's ears there need be no surprise that the blue eagle is in a bad way. Henry Ford thumbs his nose at it, and does not even get a good ad for his attitude. There are muttered threats that others are planning to follow his example. The compulsory licensing provision of the law has been gently dropped in the waste basket, and dry cleaners are exempted from punishment, even for price-cutting, which seems to be not altogether pleasing to the dry-cleaners.

There is one serious trouble with this nice, old-fashioned, democratic, respectable, hoggish program of beating your neighbors. The American Federation of Labor agrees with it. It has announced that it is all ready and willing to have what it calls a bloody war, which is not according to the rules of business at all. It has passed the word around to its members to spit on their hands and go to it. We have to call out the militia in Ohio, Illinois, and Alabama. Moreover business complains that the disturbances involve not only the striking workmen, but also great numbers of the unemployed, for whom business has no more responsibility than Dives had for Lazarus. The striking workmen and the unemployed disorderly elements may be wrong, but they are also very numerous, and they are probably not greatly impressed with the blessings of economic liberty while they are facing the machine guns and bayonets of the military forces. They have a great many votes.

In spite of the handicaps under which it has been working, and of the mistakes inevitable in a new organization, the NRA has accomplished more than appears on the surface. An American method of attacking an American problem in an American way has been devised and tested in practice. A vast amount of information, much of it fairly accurate and useful, has been obtained and systematized. An organization has been formed and has acquired some skill in working under the new plan. A great deal of educational work has been done, so that the voters have some knowledge of the subject, and moderate, practical men have a definite plan to purpose, or to defend, as a substitute for either stand-pat conservatism, or extreme radicalism. The present mildness of the blue eagle may be deceptive. Horrid as the word regimentation sounds to many ears, it is highly possible that we shall need and have much more of it in the future than we have experienced yet. We shall hardly go back to the "normalcy" of the years 1921-1922 again. The licensing provision of the Act, which provided the sting, has been dropped, but it may easily be picked up again and used unless there is a greater improvement in conditions than most of us have yet felt or seen.

Legion of Decency Seeks Elimination of Certain Movie Pictures

A letter from Bishop R. O. Gerow, urging the organization of the Legion of Decency was read in the Catholic churches on the Coast Sunday, and pledges were passed out to the members of the congregation. The Legion of Decency has for its objective the elimination of certain pictures from the silver screen.

The bishop in his letter touches upon the widespread popularity of the motion pictures and its power of arousing emotions of fear, love, hate, sorrow and joy. He declares that one who witnesses an interesting picture often permits it to "live in his imagination and dominate his thoughts." Especially is this true of children, says the bishop.

In discussing the good and evil in pictures, says the bishop: "Accordingly, the movie is capable of being a strong influence either for good or for evil. Some pictures are good in their influence. Unfortunately, a large number of them are not. Some are positively vulgar and appeal directly to the impure passions. Others, while not openly vulgar, carry a moral poison that insidiously insinuates itself into the minds of those who witness them. They teach a false standard of morality, a false philosophy of life. They create a sympathy of the home and the virtue of purity and outmoded sentimentalities, and that after all marriage is not the great sacrament that our forefathers thought it to be. They leave false and harmful influences regarding such things as divorce, the relationship of the sexes, and even free love. By condoning, if not glorifying sin, they establish false moral values, and the result is the lowering of standards of thought and of conduct."

Let me impress upon you today that success in this world does not depend upon your becoming great or famous. No—act well the part in life that falls to your lot. Discharge your duties conscientiously; be good sons, good citizens, good Catholics, good men and you have attained heights of success. If you are not called upon to do extraordinary things, see to it that you endeavor to do ordinary things extraordinarily well. Bear in mind that you are going forth today into a world of progress. The world has witnessed changes. Its history is the history of accumulation of great material wealth, of scientific advancement, of intellectual achievement. But in the midst of all this material progress the world has forgotten its God. Religion no longer holds sway over the minds and hearts of the mass of the people. ADDRESS DELIVERED TO GRADUATES BY REV. FATHER M. SCHULER, S. V. D., SUNDAY— OCCASION OF "S. S. C." COMMENCEMENT

THERE is no event in the life of a student which leaves such a deep and lasting impression upon his youthful mind as does his graduation, when, amidst the applause and congratulations so deservedly earned, he receives publicly his diploma—the reward for successful scholarship. During the course of his school days this event is ever his objective in life. Year after year he witnesses the graduation of others and then does he wonder within himself if the time will likewise ever come, when he too, will take his place upon the stage as a graduate and publicly receive his reward. Such an eventful day has finally arrived, for it is your day—the day of your graduation—the day when you will bid a public farewell to your alma mater—St. Stanislaus College.

This is indeed an occasion mingled with sentiments of sorrow and of joy. Of sorrow, because it brings to a conclusion "school days" and all that time-honored word implies. It means the breaking of the bonds of companionship between students and professors, a companionship forged in the fire of daily association and intimate relationship with them. The safeguards of classroom and school walls are no longer yours. You are henceforth left to your own resources; you will be thrown upon the mercy of the world that believes not in principle and scoffs at all Christian virtue. Such is ever the fate of every graduate.

But amidst this cloud of sorrow there appears also a silver lining of joy. Of joy, because your presence here this morning is convincing proof that your scholastic career has indeed been a successful one. You have been singularly blessed with a superior education—an education which no human power can ever hope to take from you. You are well fortified and exceptionally prepared today to carry on successfully your mission of life whithersoever it may carry you. Like the Crusaders of old, who went forth to conquer the Holy Lands with sword in one hand and the cross, the emblem of their salvation, in the other; so, too do you go forth today thru the portals of your school, out into the busy avenue of life, bearing the principles of education and the high ideals of your religion in one hand, and your diploma, the emblem of success in the other—true soldiers of fortune indeed, going forth in conquest of the cherished laurels of the business world. You close the book of learning today only to begin the cumbersome book of practical experience.

Let me impress upon you today that success in this world does not depend upon your becoming great or famous. No—act well the part in life that falls to your lot. Discharge your duties conscientiously; be good sons, good citizens, good Catholics, good men and you have attained heights of success. Built Up Strength

By Taking Cardui

Here's her own account of how Mrs. T. W. Hardin, of Greer, S. C., was benefited by taking Cardui: "I suffered a great deal from weakness in my back and pains in my side and felt so miserable," she writes. "I read of Cardui and decided to try it. I felt better after I took my first bottle, so kept on taking it as I felt such a need of strength, and it helped me so much."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

As a consequence of this godless condition, society has indeed paid the penalty. Godless education has stolen from our youth the desire to serve God, and has taught him that freedom means nothing more than a license to commit sin. Real home life has been destroyed, and an utter disregard for lawfully constituted authority is found in both parent and child. Every day we read in the newspapers that those in authority have become alarmed at these chaotic conditions. They have enacted innumerable laws for the improvements of these social disorders, but no avail. There is but one solution—religion. Until religion is placed on the same plane of importance with secular knowledge in our secular colleges and institutions of learning throughout the country; unless our growing youth are instructed in the Ten Commandments as the guiding principle of life and learn therefrom the responsibility of their relationship to God and to their fellow men, present conditions will never find improvement.

You, graduates of St. Stanislaus have been very fortunate; you have not only received a superior secular education, but you have also received a solid religious training as well. You have been daily instructed in the principles and cardinal virtues of your religion by the Sacred Heart Brothers, those noble men of God, who have placed their lives on the altar of self-sacrifice solely for the spiritual and secular education of you, their pupils. "To whom much is given much is expected" and therefore may you show the fruits of their labor and sacrifice in all your dealing throughout your life; may their noble examples of unselfishness remain emblazoned upon your heart characterizing you and singling you out from amongst the mass of finished products of a Catholic institution—as true sons of St. Stanislaus College.

May I take this occasion to extend my congratulations to Brother William and his assisting Brother for this creditable showing this morning the Eightieth Annual commencement. It is my prayerful hope that all their future efforts may be crowned with as great success as this their present one.

Graduates, be thankful to God today for the innumerable favors and blessings which He must have showered upon you during your course of studies.

Be grateful to your professors for the many personal and unexpected efforts they expended on your behalf, merely to emphasize and make certain your future success.

And finally, be thankful to your parents, those noble instruments in the hand of God, who made possible your present success—those who made told sacrifices in your behalf in order to give you an education of which, perhaps they themselves were deprived. They are present here this morning, their hearts beating fast with hope and expectancy of great things. They have done their part for you, now they leave you to yourselves to do your part—surely you will not disappoint them.

Go forth, therefore into the world as true sons of St. Stanislaus College.

Gulf Coast Military One Of Nation's Honor Schools

For the eighth consecutive year the Gulf Coast Military academy has been selected as one of the nation's honor military schools for 1934, according to a telegram received by Colonel Nat Owen from Adjutant-General McKinley at Washington. Secretary of War George Dern wired his congratulations. The rating was based on an inspection made by representatives of the office of the chief of infantry during April. As a result of the rating for 1933, Joseph Reddock of Luverne, Ala., honor graduate of the G. M. C. A. 1934 class, will enter West Point next month without examinations.

"Wonderful," She Says

Here's today's story of a woman who knew she carried too much fat and decided the right way to get rid of it—just a few words that wise fat folks should need—worth reading.

"I use Kruschen Salts to reduce. It's wonderful. Take it daily and eat what I want and still lose. I did weigh 180, now 137. Want to get down to 125." Mrs. Leonard Bass, Ft. Atkinson, Wis., Feb. 6, 1934.

When you take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water—you not only lose in weight but you put healthy activity into our whole body—you feel younger and look it—get it at any drugstore in the world.

SENATOR HUEY LONG TO ENGAGE IN MISS. SENATORIAL RACE

Will Attempt To Beat Bilbo — And Stephens and His Activities Will Attract Attention

Senator Huey P. Long, is going to take an active part in the race for United States senator in Mississippi according to a report from Washington, and the following article by George Durno, who features "The National Whirligig" had the following to say about Senator Long:

Politicians of all complexions will watch with interest the effort of Huey Long this summer to reassemble shreds of his one-time growing Southern empire.

Long has decided to stump Mississippi in the interest of the senatorial candidacy of Representative Ross A. Collins, opposing in the Democratic primary Senator Hubert D. Stephens, incumbent, and ex-Governor Theodore G. Bilbo.

Long range guessers think that Long has picked another winner. They are speculating on what effect a victory may have in restoring his damaged prestige.

Huey's place in the Mississippi picture will be to oust—Bilbo. The erstwhile Mississippi governor, who quit a government newspaper clipping job to enter the senatorial lists, is much the same sort of campaigner as Long.

At the moment Long has well over 100 political clubs organized in Mississippi. This is in line with his ambition to dominate Southern politics. His success in stamping Arkansas in 1932 for Hattie Caraway prompts the invasion of other states.

Senator Long didn't have to be invited into Mississippi fight. He has served notice repeatedly that he would wade into any local campaign that suited his purposes. In this instance he cares little for Senator Stephens and dislikes Bilbo.

That makes Representative Collins a natural inheritor of the Long loud-speaker truck and carnival caravan.

Collins has a reputation around the capital for being a smart politician. He has worked the letter-writing business with great success. Every letter he gets is answered as constructively as possible and few people in Mississippi get married, have children, have anniversaries or suffer family deaths without getting congratulations or condolences from the Meridian Congressman.

Collins will put a new element in Long's legislative setup if he is stepped up into the Senate.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caldwell came out from New Orleans for the week-end in anticipation of the early arrival from Natchez, Miss., of Mrs. Caldwell's mother, Mrs. G. O. Korn-doffer, and family, who will spend the season at the Korn-doffer beach summer home.

—Mr. and Mrs. Zed Brock, Mrs. Alfred Kline, and son, Mr. Warren Kline, returned from a vacation spent in Chicago visiting the Century of Progress exposition, motored over from New Orleans Sunday afternoon and visited at the home of relatives, Union street. Accompanied by Mrs. L. S. Elliott the party partook of supper at Pine Hills Club.

—Bay St. Louis Rotarians have changed their supper-meeting hour from 7 to 7:15 o'clock, Tuesday evening, at The Answer, where Mrs. Bourgeois, hostess, gives the guests splendid attention and service. President John J. McDonald is finishing his term as president, with marked success. He will be succeeded on first Tuesday of next month by that veteran Rotarian, Arthur A. Scaffide.

BEAUTIFUL MAIN ST. GARDEN ATTRACTS ADMIRING ATTENTION.

There are many beautiful and old-fashioned gardens along the line of Main street and it would be difficult to enumerate and describe all. However, Mrs. Peter Tudury has an unusual display of blooming flowers the year 'round. Her geranium collection is said to be the most varied and largest hereabouts. Just now the beautiful zinnias, blooming for some time past, and hydrangea blossoms attract the interest of passers-by. CHOOSE THE TIRE CHAMPIONS BUY

Firestone
Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-Mile Race FOR 15 CONSECUTIVE YEARS

EVERY winner in the 500-Mile Indianapolis Race — the most gruelling tire test in the world — drove to victory on Firestone High Speed Tires.

Race drivers know that heat generated by friction inside the cotton cords is the greatest enemy of tire life. These men will not risk their lives on any but Firestone Tires, because they know the high stretch cords in every Firestone Tire are protected by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Gum-Dipping soaks the high stretch cords in liquid rubber and saturates and coats the millions of fibers inside the cords, counteracting destructive friction and heat. It provides greater adhesion between the plies of the tire, and between the Gum-Dipped cord body and the tread.

Firestone chemists and engineers kept pace with the new car developments by building stronger, safer tires to meet the exacting demands. Drive in today and equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, with deeper, thicker, flatter, and wider non-skid tread, more and tougher rubber, more traction, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Remember, in Firestone High Speed Tires there is Greater Strength — Greater Safety — and Greater Blowout Protection than in any tire made.

THE ADHESION TEST

Note how the rubber in a Firestone Tire clings to the high stretch Gum-Dipped cords. This is a test of adhesion and strength is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Note how the rubber in an ordinary tire pulls away from the cords that have not been soaked and insulated with rubber.

This causes friction and heat separation.

COME IN AND MAKE THIS TEST FOR YOURSELF

THE NEW Firestone AIR BALLOON FOR 1934

The new Firestone Air Balloon for 1934 embodies all the improvements in the new Firestone High Speed Tire. The lower air riding comfort. Gum-Dipping safety-locks the cords, providing 30 to 40% greater deflection and blowout protection.

Get 1935 low-swing style by equipping your car today with these new tires and wheels in colors to match your car.
